

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to exposing a bond pad on a substrate. A bond pad is formed over a silicon substrate with the subsequent formation of a dielectric over the bond pad. A patterned resist is formed, and at least opening is processed to form a sloped sidewall profile. The sloped sidewall profile is subsequently etched and transferred to the dielectric layer, exposing the bond pad.